

Research on the Middle East

Why is the Palestinian-Israeli conflict repeatedly rated as the most significant issue in Middle Eastern politics?

The Palestinian-Israeli conflict is the most significant issue in the Middle East because the fighting hasn't ended since it began and there is continual death on both sides. You cannot work to fix other problems in the Middle East because both sides are in "war mode".